INFORMATION

The SiriusXM station list is displayed in a different order after the vehicle goes to sleep and the currently tuned station is not highlighted in the station list. Nevertheless, the station contents and the currently active station list are played correctly.

There is not a fault in the vehicle, though the customer needs to be informed that SiriusXM has been subject to a dynamic (independently updating) channel list since July 2020.

- The dynamic station list updates after the vehicle has gone to sleep
- The station being played can be highlighted again by changing the media source

Since the SiriusXM station list is very long, it is possible to store the respective favorite stations by using the favorites buttons and play them directly.
